Glam Rocks Consultants Bring Glamour to Girls' Night In

Designer jewellery and accessories boutique Glam Rocks offers a unique opportunity for women who want to put the sparkle back in their careers

Kilmarnock, Scotland -- March 6, 2007 -- Long gone are the days where fashionable women had to scour store shelves looking for the latest designs. These days, women are gathering their friends and letting fashion come to them. Girlie get-togethers are topped off with gorgeous jewels, stylish handbags and the hottest accessories from well-known designers.

In addition to fun bonding experiences, these home-based shopping sprees offer exciting new career opportunities. Fashion-forward boutiques, such as Kilmarnock's Glam Rocks, are taking the party plan business to the next level by offering trendy shoppers the ability to take charge of their careers as Glam Rocks party plan consultants.

Glam Rocks consultants schedule and coordinate parties filled with goodies from the chic Glam Rocks boutique, including handmade jewellery and fashionable designer accessories. Guests enjoy trying on sparkling necklaces and modeling posh handbags for their friends. The relaxed atmosphere feels more like a slumber party than a shopping trip, and consultants have fun discussing the latest fashion trends and socialising while taking orders.

Glam Rocks consultants not only work in an enjoyable and positive environment, they also make great money. The boutique offers consultants a generous 25% commission on each item sold. And because consultants are in charge throughout the entire process, from booking parties to delivery of products, there is no limit to their success.

Glam Rocks owner Kerri Marshall is passionate about giving her customers the best experience possible and knows the way to do this is through hiring consultants that enjoy what they do. "Our consultants love that they can create the lives they want through their work with Glam Rocks. They are in complete control and can set their own hours and goals," said Marshall. "It is a great opportunity for women who are seeking flexibility and balance while earning a terrific income and having fun."

Marshall relies on the passion and enthusiasm of Glam Rocks representatives to make each party an enjoyable, one-of-a-kind shopping experience, so she offers extensive training and support to consultants. This support system includes regular meetings to discuss business strategies and provide encouragement, as well as incentives to keep the party plan process fresh and exciting.

Glam Rocks is currently seeking women to join the successful company as consultants. "Glam Rocks is focused on women having fun and feeling glamorous," said Marshall. "This goes for our consultants, too. We are always looking for enthusiastic women to join our rapidly growing team."

A career as a Glam Rocks party plan consultant is perfect for women who love fashion, enjoy meeting new people and want a flexible career where they can earn great money. Interested individuals should contact Kerri at kerri@glamrocks.co.uk for more information about this exciting opportunity.
